Watchman

2 Timothy 4:1-5

It is clear what the Sunday school teachers must do. Also, they must have their own experience and evidence of the Gospel to stand as witnesses. They must possess the eyes to see the future and have hope for it. They must have a clear direction for the future that is centered on the covenant. They must continuously relay it to the remnants. They must arise as the committed workers. The remnant movement is the most important work for this age.
